—Life & Health

Creating and maintaining compliance surveys and charts for operational compliance needs is a complex and time-consuming task. AuthenticWeb<sup>TM</sup> Matrices make it easy.

AuthenticWeb Benefits:

- Accurate Summary of Requirements—Rely on expert analysis conducted by the leading provider of insurance compliance information in an easy-to-read matrix format.
- Flexible Deployment Options—Web-based interface or automatic feed of Matrix content directly to your intranet-based resources. Users view current information automatically each time.
- E-Mail Alerts—Automates monitoring of key regulatory issues. Alerts eliminate the need to update internal research projects manually, saving a significant amount of time.
- Industry Experts—Support you can rely on from compliance professionals, insurance attorneys, and former insurance regulators.

Overview

Communicating requirements to those needing to know is one of the greatest challenges insurers face in meeting compliance requirements. Frequent calls into the legal department are costly and distracting. Creating and maintaining summaries is a complex and time-consuming task—distracting highly-skilled legal and compliance staff from other business objectives. To solve the problem, many insurers have created on-line manuals and other tools only to find that these resources quickly become out of date and require a substantial investment to maintain.

AuthenticWeb Matrices solve this problem. Available on a wide variety of compliance topics, Matrices summarize requirements on key regulatory issues in an easy-to-use 50-state chart format. Matrices provide flexible content. Logging on to the web-based interface, users can choose the column headings, state, and line of business to create the chart they need on the fly. To maintain existing on-line manuals on your intranet, Matrices offer the unique ability to feed the content you select directly to your site using dynamic linking. Dynamically-linked content updates automatically every time the user refreshes the screen.

Our staff of compliance analysts continually monitors regulatory activity and updates Matrices when appropriate. E-mail alerts keep users informed of any changes automatically. Statutory references are also included with an optional link to the statutory content in NILS INsource<sup>TM</sup>. Matrix licenses are enterprise-wide with no per-user fees and are available in a variety of subscription options.

Value

AuthenticWeb Matrices lower research costs, streamline implementations, and increase overall levels of compliance. Easy to use and always current, Matrices offer an effective alternative to managing compliance in key operational areas.

Creating and maintaining compliance surveys and charts for operational compliance needs is a complex and time-consuming task. AuthenticWeb Matrices make it easy.

Matrices offer value in key areas:

- Increase research productivity. Our analysts and compliance experts research, monitor, and summarize regulatory requirements for you. Intuitively organized and easy to read, Matrices save valuable research time.
- Improve communication and implementation of requirements. Unlike simple charts of citation references, Matrices contain unique analyses and summaries of requirements. This level of detail provides an easy-to-use reference usable by departments directly impacted by the requirements.
- A flexible solution for maintaining in-house compliance resources. Dynamic linking capability allows you to feed automatically updated Matrix content to your intranet site seamlessly.
- Ultimately help companies improve levels of compliance with minimal use of human resources. Effective communication of requirements reduces noncompliance risks at the functional level. AuthenticWeb Matrices help you make sure current requirements are available and usable at the operational level without straining your resources.
